

This year, DressYourWay is delighted to join the WORD festival as the main sponsor for the “little Black Dress” event

Every woman knows what a little black dress is for – seduction, mourning, revenge, celebration, perhaps even murder. It can be a sign of belonging or a sign of individuality, a way to hide or a way to stand out.

Fifteen women of varied backgrounds, including Kate Moss, Muriel Gray, Stella Duffy, Candia McWilliam, Morag Joss, Yvonne Adhiambo Owuor, Jean Marsh and Michelle Berry, offer a colourful range of views on the little black dress.

BBC Radio Four originally broadcast a selection of these stories. Now a fuller collection has been tailored by Susie Maguire into this simply stunning and elegant publication.
